FELE Competencies
Introduction

This handbook has been developed to answer questions you may have and to refer to during your experience in the Space Coast Executive M. Ed. in Educational Leadership. Complete applications are due each March 1 to be considered for the next cohort. Courses will be offered at the UCF facility on the Cocoa Campus of Brevard Community College. UCF’s M. Ed. in Educational Leadership is approved by the Florida Department of Education as preparation for the Educational Leadership Certificate. An M.Ed. in educational leadership or its equivalent and successful completion of the Florida Educational Leadership Exam (FELE) are required for Educational Leadership Certification in Florida.

Admission Requirements

Bachelor’s Degree
GPA of 3.0 overall from the undergraduate record OR a GPA of 3.0 for last 60 semester hours of undergraduate study
Priority consideration will be given to applicants with supplemental graduate test scores: however, no GRE is required.
Admissions committee recommendation

Education Specialist Degree

Education Specialist students may belong to this cohort with the understanding that the additional courses required for this advanced degree are Organizational Theory (EDA 7101) and Research Report (EDA 6909). EDA 7101 will be the responsibility of the student to take on UCF’s main campus in Orlando and EDA 6909 will be taken with the student’s advisor. Students interested in the Education Specialist program should visit the Educational Leadership website. Prospective students may also contact Dr. Kenneth Murray, Coordinator of the Space Coast Executive M. Ed., murray@mail.ucf.edu.

Modified Core Program

Modified Core students (those who have a master’s degree in another area and want certification only) may take courses with the Space Coast Executive M.Ed. cohort as long as there is a seat and with the faculty member’s approval. Students who are interested in the Modified Core program should visit the Educational Leadership website. Prospective students may also contact Dr. Kenneth Murray, Coordinator of the Space Coast Executive M. Ed., murray@mail.ucf.edu.
The program is a 6 semester cohort experience with most courses delivered in a face to face format. Fall and spring semester classes will generally begin around 5:30 pm on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Summer Semester classes may vary due to the compressed schedule.

Students will begin summer semester each year and take 2 prescribed 3 credit hour courses each semester. Some learning experiences will extend over several semesters, but be a part of a specific course. For example, the administrative internship, EDA 6946 will be registered for the last semester of coursework, but will reflect internship experiences of that semester and the previous two.

EDA 6946 Administrative Internship

Action Research Project

The administrative internship experience and documentation will take place beginning with Spring Semester 1 when the student is enrolled in Educational Supervisory Practices I. In this course students will work on an action research project applicable to the school environment and continue with this action research project through two more semesters, concluding in Educational Supervisory Practices II. Administrative experiences during this project may count towards either the two hundred hours of administrative experience required prior to registering for EDA 6946 in the last semester or towards the 90 hours required for completion of the internship, whichever is most appropriate to the individual student’s situation.

Three Semester Experience

200 hours of administrative experience documentation are required before beginning the administrative internship 90 hour documentation summer year 2. These 200 hours are described in the sections that follow.

To gain a full view of administrative experience, the internship documentation will cover the last three semesters of coursework, although students will register for the internship during the last semester of coursework and receive a grade that semester only for the 3-semester experience. By February 1 of year 1 the intern will apply to take the administrative internship, EDA 6946. The application procedures are within this handbook. Failure to apply by February 1 may prevent the student from enrollment.

All documentation will be submitted to the internship coordinator during the last semester of the internship, spring semester year 2. Documentation is to include at least one experience for each Florida Principal Leadership Standard and for each FELE competency, all which are included in this handbook.

There will be an orientation to the administrative internship towards the end of spring semester year 1 to prepare students to begin the experience. During the summer semester of year 2 the student will have the 3-way conference with the intern coordinator and supervising administrator and then the student should begin accruing at least 20 of the 90 required internship hours. Documentation should be according to the examples within this handbook. Examples of summer internship experiences to target are: student schedules, updating parent, teacher, and student handbooks, revise and update the crises plan, teacher assignments, interviewing, disaggregating FCAT and End of Course Assessment data, and making data driven decisions. Also, during this semester students should assist the principal with preparations for beginning the new school year. Beginning the professional reading documentation should begin during this semester.

In the fall semester of year 2 students will self rate for the second time on the leadership standards. The intern will seek experiences including assisting with opening school, FTE count, class size compliance, class changes, assisting with data-based decision-making, understanding finance, and learning about any curriculum or grade levels for which the student does not have expertise. Students should document a minimum of 20 of the required 90 hours for the internship. Towards the end of this semester there will be an orientation to the final semester of the administrative internship.

Spring semester year 2 the intern will be registered for EDA 6946, the administrative internship, and should already have a minimum of 40 hours of documented internship experience. Students should seek opportunities for understanding school finance, the personnel function, student scheduling, administering FCAT, and any other leadership standards and FELE competencies not already documented. Complete the final self rating on the leadership standards and submit the final documentation required to receive a satisfactory grade.

Purpose and Objectives of the Administrative Internship

The Administrative Internship is offered to students of educational leadership to provide opportunities to work with and to learn from administrators in public schools, in post secondary schools, in business, industry, and in other public and private organizations. The student is guided through experiences designed to provide opportunities to use previously acquired academic and professional knowledge and to establish a bond between theory and practice and educational administration.

The objectives of the Internship are:

- To experience the realities of educational administration by applying classroom knowledge to actual administrative situations. FEAP 7, 8, and 11.
- To gain practical experience in applying administrative skills, techniques, and theory by working with a professional administrator. FEAP 2, 5, 6, and 10.

- To further develop a philosophy of education as a result of the Internship. FEAP 3, 4, and 9.

Initial considerations

The internship is one of the important culminating experiences you will have in your master's degree program. The care with which you plan for your internship is critical.

As you begin thinking about your internship, devote some time to self assessment. Consider your accomplishments prior to entering your graduate program and the progress you have made in both experience and academic knowledge gained up to this point. Bring 200 hours of administrative experience and up-to-date resume and in doing so make some determinations as to the talents, skills and knowledge you will bring to an internship experience. As you engage in this self-assessment, you should further determine your areas of administrative interest and strength as well as those areas where you need or would like to gain more experience. Complete the preliminary assessment on the Florida Principal Leadership Standards.

Having documented your experience and strengths in your resume and the related competency documentation/assessment, you should have a good sense of what you bring to the experience. Now, you can consider your needs (in light of your existing strengths), begin to think about who might best assist you and where you can gain needed knowledge or further refine your skills.

Consider the following variables. They relate not only to your professional background and experience but to the constraints of personal/family variables which you will need to consider in planning for your internship:

- Potential site (student/faculty demographics/grade level). Students are frequently required to complete internships at school sites other than their own. A portion of the experience must be performed by the intern at a site where at least 20% of the pupils are of an ethnic group other than that of the intern. If 20% of the pupils at the home school site are of an ethnic/racial group other than yours, you have met the multicultural requirements. The decision regarding grade level of the internship should be based on needed preparation for a probable "first" administrative assignment.

- Potential administrator(s). Students often opt for the opportunity to work with a differing administrative "style." The types of experiences you desire will influence both your choice of site and administrator. Typically, students engage in preliminary experiences at their home schools and are assisted to varying degrees by administrators at those sites. These administrators, who know you well, can be very helpful as you consider the options available to you. You should consider administrators who are role models and perhaps have experience supervising UCF administrative interns.

As you consider your alternatives, seek the counsel of appropriate individuals regarding the potential site/time frame for the internship. Major academic advisors, professors of educational leadership, building administrators, and professional colleagues can be helpful in ensuring that this "capstone" experience builds on prior academic and professional experiences and enhances your competence as an educational administrator. Consider experiences identified by your school district as important for potential administrators.

Keep in mind that you alone will not determine your internship placement. All placements must be approved by and finalized through the Space Coast Executive M. Ed. administrative internship coordinator. What you will be able to do is bring to the decision process the advantages and disadvantages of several alternatives you have considered and the rationale for your recommendation.

Developing Appropriate Documentation

1. Record your 200 hours of field experiences using the Florida Principal Leadership Standards and FELE Competencies found in the Appendix.

This activity should be completed in preparation for and prior to the development of your resume. It should permit you to reflect on prior experience and determine where you may need to concentrate your efforts and broaden your experience.

As you consider the standards and competencies you may realize that you have already gained valuable experience in some of them. We recognize that experience comes not only from your years in education but may well have been gained in a variety of professional and life experiences. List these activities, their approximate dates, and the individual who supervised you.
Florida Principal Leadership Standards

♦ See Appendix for appropriate format for documentation.

❖ Begin this required activity early in your program, recording activities you have completed in recent years. Use this product to develop your resume (or revise it). Add to this documentation as you gain additional experiences during your program and your internship. You will need to submit this documentation at the time you apply for the internship and again at the conclusion of the internship.

2. Update your Resume.

This will give you a chance to look at yourself as others see you (at least on paper). Chances are your resume was last updated just before you acquired your current position; thus, none of your current experiences are likely to be reflected in your current resume.

As you begin this task, view it as a long term project and use the current document as a benchmark from which you can begin to look at strengths you already possess and weaknesses or deficits you wish to address during your graduate program. Finalize your updated resume, but make sure to keep it electronically so you can update it periodically. You will need to provide a copy of your resume prior to beginning the internship.

Reexamine your resume at the end of every semester. As you add experiences, you will not only be able to enhance your resume but you will be encouraged to see yourself as others do. Hopefully, your accomplishments will encourage you to continually add to your experiential base during your program.

If by chance you do not have a resume, you need to begin the process of building one. There are many books and pamphlets to help you get started. A few basic rules are posed below.

There is no single format or length that is best for a resume. Let your experience guide the development of your resume and its length. While college or university placement offices frequently encourage students to develop one-page resumes, school district administrators indicate that they would prefer more complete information. You need to convey the extent of your experience and the quality of your professional effort. If you are aspiring to an administrative position, you should have substantial experience to support your interest. You will in all likelihood need several pages to sufficiently explain the range and breadth of your experience. Occasionally, it is useful to develop an abbreviated one-page resume for use at selected times when your full resume may not seem needed or appropriate.

Begin the process of developing a resume by listing your education and your work experience. There are no required categories or headings. You need to develop appropriate categories so as to present yourself to best advantage. People who try to finalize a resume in a very short period of time inevitably forget important accomplishments which should be included. Plan to spend parts of a couple of weeks thinking about all the things you have done and what should be included on your resume before you begin writing.

REMEMBER: Your resume often serves as your initial representative. The impression you make through your resume often determines whether you have the opportunity to receive further consideration through an interview. Be sure that your final resume represents you in the most professional manner possible in both tone and appearance. Your resume should be finalized using a letter-quality printer. It should provide accurate, up-to-date information about you and be free of grammatical and typographical errors.

♦ See Appendix for sample resume.

✓ 3. Periodically, assess your overall level of competency using the Florida Principal Leadership Standards FEAP 3.

Duplicate this form as needed so that you can

1) complete an assessment on the Florida Principal Leadership Standards, (log into the website: floridaschoolleaders.org) and submit this with your application packet.

2) complete the midpoint self assessment and use it to determine additional experience to seek.

3) complete a final self assessment.

Key to your success in emerging from various aspects of administrator selection processes will be your ability to demonstrate both in written responses and in interview settings that you understand the Florida Principal Leadership Standards and that you have substantial experience that provides evidence of your competency.

Consult with the Internship Coordinator

Consult with the administrative internship coordinator early in the fall semester. Advance planning is essential so that areas of interest, special needs, special requests and alternatives for the experience may be considered.

✓ 4. Provide the internship coordinator with a completed application for EDA 6946 Administrative Internship and copies of Required Tasks 1, 2 and 3 as previously described.

♦ See Appendix (p. 21) for EDA 6946 Administrative Internship Application

✓ 5. Soon after you send the materials, contact the internship coordinator to arrange for a meeting in regard to the materials and your suggestions regarding the goals of your internship and potential internship sites/supervisors.

♦ Once you have completed Required Tasks 1, 2, 3 and 4, a time-saving step is to have an email conversation with the administrative internship coordinator regarding appropriate next activities. You can outline what you have done thus far, what you believe you would like to do or seek the advice of the University Supervisor regarding what needs to happen next.

Contacting the Supervising Administrator

✓ 6. Make the initial contact with a potential Supervising Administrator indicating your need to complete an administrative internship as a part of your graduate program (Read the following BEFORE you contact an administrator):

It is hoped that you, as a prospective intern, will have given a great deal of time and thought to an appropriate placement for your internship. You may well have made several inquiries as to availability of possible supervisors at the time you are requesting or the appropriateness of a potential site given your specific interest/needs. Your current administrators may have helped you make contact to explore the potential for a placement or you may choose for your current principal to supervise your internship. All of these activities are appropriate and really quite necessary in order to do a good job of "scouting" a site. You simply need to keep in mind that such discussions must be preliminary. All final arrangements must be approved by the internship, and no internship placement can be finalized until a three-party conference is held.

Be prepared to answer the following questions which are typically posed by administrators:

\textbf{Why do you think you want to come to this school?} What is your reason for thinking this is an appropriate site/location for your internship? You should have a specific reason(s) for having identified this school/site as an appropriate one.

\textbf{What do you expect to gain from this internship?} You should be able to respond to this question based on your resume, competency/field experience documentation and Florida Principal Leadership Standards self-assessment to focus on areas where you need more experience—do not just focus on the 90 required hours. Additionally, your consultations with other professionals may have given you indications of what you might expect from your internship. What is important in this conversation is that you be able to provide a rationale and pose some very tentative goals for completing an internship at a particular site.

\textbf{What times will you be available (day/dates/weeks)?} This is very important information to have at hand--have a copy of your school calendar at your disposal--the more flexible you can be the better; however, if there are days or weeks where you are unavailable, you need to state that information early on. Most administrators are very flexible and understanding in regard to the time constraints under which educators work.

\textbf{How long is your internship?} You are required to complete a three-semester (90 clock hours--the rough equivalent of three weeks of 6 hour work days). Many students exceed the clock hour requirement simply because they view the internship as such a valuable learning experience and also because they have an opportunity to "follow through" on a project.
Occasionally, students split their time between a building and district office, and perhaps two schools at different levels, but usually, if students have not had building level administrative experience, they complete the entire experience within a designated building.

\textbf{What does a supervising administrator have to do?} Supervising administrators, mainly, serve as coaches. Principals may well facilitate experiences for a given student through assistant principals, department heads, and team leaders. They must sign each documentation prior to submission.
7. Confirm with both the supervising administrator and the internship coordinator a time for the three-party conference conducted at the internship site or via telephone to discuss proposed goals and objectives. Provide the internship coordinator with the following well in advance of the meeting:

   a) Full name, exact title and position of site administrator

   b) Telephone and complete address for site school (building, street, city, ZIP) and location/directions as necessary.

You are responsible for taking a leadership role in identifying potential times for the three-party conference. As you visit with your potential supervisor, see if there are some times during the week that are better than others; do the same with the University Supervisor. A few phone calls or email exchanges on your part to finalize and confirm the meeting will usually be required.

Three-Way Conference

8. Summer 2--Prepare three (3) items to be shared at your meeting with the supervising administrator and the internship coordinator.

   a) copies of your "Tentative" Goals and Objectives: Administrative Internship Plan to the meeting to share with the supervising administrator and internship coordinator.

   b) a copy of your current resume to be given to your supervising administrator.

   c) a copy of your documented Areas of Administrator Responsibility for your supervising administrator

Be prepared to:

   • Discuss your tentative goals and objectives--it is your responsibility to have given your best thought to your needs and your interests resulting in your rationale for desiring to intern at the proposed site. Be prepared to modify your goals as needed based on further information gained during your meeting.

   • Establish a fairly definite time frame (beginning and ending dates and any constraints on your time) for the internship.

See Appendix for sample format to be used in finalizing your Administrative Internship Plan.

Duplicate the form (or create your own) as needed to draft and finalize your goals and objectives that will eventually become your plan.

During the Internship

Throughout all aspects of your internship, it is your responsibility to keep the internship coordinator of your progress by doing the following:

✔ 9. Send a copy of your finalized Goals and Objectives: Administrative Internship Plan (signed by you and your supervisor) to the internship coordinator no later than the first or second day of the internship experience. Leave a copy with the school supervisor.

✔ 10. Maintain a "log" of your hours and your activities. After your supervising principal signs the log, send it to the internship coordinator after 30 hours, an updated log again after 60 hours and present the final completed log totaling at least 90 clock hours at the time of the final evaluation conference, or prior to the final conference. FEAP 10

♦ See Appendix for example of "log."

❖ This log applies only to the 90-hour internship. It should include a very brief record of the type of activity and the hours/minutes devoted to that activity on a given day.

✔ 11. Engage in a program of professional reading, maintaining an annotated record, related to the internship assignment. This will ordinarily be determined in cooperation with the supervising administrator and relate directly to the experience, not textbooks from other courses.

♦ See Appendix for example of appropriate documentation.

✔ 12. Identify a separate activity/field experience which provides evidence of your competence for the Florida Principal Leadership Standards and FELE Competencies found in the Appendix.

❖ Use the Florida Principal Leadership Standards as major headings and identify one activity/experience which best demonstrates your competency (not what you think you can do but what you have done) for each of these Standards and FELE competencies. You may draw from your internship and your prior 200 hours. Your principal supervisor must sign and date this document.

✔ 13. Submit one ACTIVITY DESCRIPTION IN STAR FORMAT to the internship coordinator after 30 hours, a second ACTIVITY DESCRIPTION IN STAR FORMAT again after 60 hours and present the REMAINING TWO ACTIVITY DESCRIPTIONS IN STAR FORMAT at the time of the final evaluation conference. Students are required to submit documentation of four STAR activities that reflect their ability to analyze challenging situations and formulate effective strategies to resolve these issues. Students are assessed by the instructor regarding the quality of their conceptualization and response using holistically using instructor’s professional judgment. Your principal supervisor must sign and date these four STAR formatted leadership experiences. FEAP 4.
See Appendix for description of STAR format

14. Contact by email the internship coordinator around the mid-point of the internship to discuss your progress and schedule an on-campus conference if necessary.

15. Schedule a final evaluation conference (telephone or in person at the internship site) with the principal and the internship coordinator near the conclusion of the internship experience.

16. Complete the UCF Master's Program in Educational Leadership Exit Survey and submit to the internship coordinator with the final documentation.
APPENDIX

FORMS/FORMATS/SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS: This Handbook has been placed on the Educational Leadership website (http://pegasus.cc.ucf.edu/~educlead/) for your ease in accessing materials and in duplicating forms if you wish. The examples, forms, formats displayed in this Appendix have been included to provide direction regarding content and various types of required documentation. The examples are intended to give you a sense of what is required. They are not to dictate a single acceptable or preferred style or format.

There is no single required form which must be used by students in documenting their experiences; however, it is essential that students provide complete information (correct titles, school sites, addresses and phone numbers). While the form may vary, you are responsible for providing complete data as indicated in the examples provided. As one example, a resume is provided (pp. 19-20). You may elect to use a very different format. Your experience will dictate your format and the categories you use in developing your resume.

In particular, keep in mind that you are developing materials which as you enter into selection processes will be useful in documenting your prior administrative experience with Florida Principal Leadership Standards.

EXAMPLE

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES: ADMINISTRATIVE INTERNSHIP PLAN

Two examples are presented below:

Example 1 provides an example of tentative goals developed by the intern based on discussions. These tentative goals should be in the hands of each person participating in the 3-party conference. These goals serve as a beginning point for discussion during the conference. This plan represents the real wishes and interests of the student. During the conference, the discussion will determine whether the objectives are realistic or if some activities may not be able to be accomplished.

Example 2 is an example of a final and slightly revised or expanded plan ready for the signatures of all three persons. This plan would result from the discussion at the three-party conference and subsequent planning/discussion between the intern and the supervising administrator. This finalized plan signed by the intern and the supervising administrator should be sent to the internship coordinator no later than the first or second day of the official beginning date of the internship during summer semester, year 2.

Goals and objectives may be more or less specific depending on a number of variables--the intern supervisor's style, the intern's diligence in documenting and the nature of the internship. What guides the specificity of goals should be the nature of the internship and the need for direction or focus in order to accomplish the desired result.

Using the STAR format described below, document a minimum of four (4) activities or events in which you have participated during your internship for four (4) or more different Principal Leadership Standards. Students participating in targeted selection often must respond to questions of interviewers using STARS. STARS can assist you in reporting clearly and succinctly the important elements of your behavior as you solved a problem, resolved a conflict or took some administrative action.

1. Identify the Florida Principal Leadership Standards for which the STAR is being developed.

2. Describe the SITUATION and/or TASK which was presented to you. Your description should discuss the context or setting in which the experience took place or detail the task and its surrounding circumstances.

3. Describe your ACTION. What did you do? What did you say? What were the steps you took to reach your goal or accomplish your objective? In describing your actions, provide a specific step-by-step description of your actions. Do not talk about what you intended to do or what your coworkers did.

4. Report your RESULTS. What was the final outcome? What is your final assessment of the actions you took? The result is the outcome or consequence of actions taken. Were your actions effective in changing or somehow affecting the original situation?

Your star-formatted activity descriptions should provide a fairly complete description but should not exceed two pages (double spaced) in length. It should also provide an example of your best written communication skills. See example on following page.

FLORIDA PRINCIPAL LEADERSHIP STANDARD 2.0 Instructional Leadership

Situation

Establishing classes to meet the needs of summer school candidates for Grades K-5 including students classified ESE.

Task

The task was to establish classes and prepare to hire allocated teachers for these classes. My objective was to put the classes together from the two feeder schools with similar academic need and to find a teacher that would use an academic program to encourage continuous progress during the summer school intercession.

Action

I used the student referral packet and class lists from the two schools feeding into Smithfield School’s summer session. I grouped students by grade attempting to balance the classes with similar numbers. The county list of teacher and teaching assistants who had applied for summer school was used, and special attention was given to the teachers who were from the feeder schools. After listing eligible teachers, I began the hiring process. Input on each candidate was sought from the principal or assistant principal of each teacher's home school since we were looking for teachers who used a holistic approach to teaching and would use varied methods to reach children at their level. Teachers also needed to be sufficiently skill driven to strengthen student academic skills as needed. I assumed responsibility for interviewing candidates and in coordination with the administrative staff finalized the recommendations to hire a staff of 25.

To facilitate a smooth summer school, a preplanning meeting for summer school staff was planned and held on May 18. The agenda included expectations, goals and needs for an effective summer school session. Teacher input was also sought during this meeting.

Result

The final outcome of the preparation for summer school was the core of teachers were hired and ready to begin using the class lists they were given in preplanning. We did have some changes in both lists and teacher assistants at the beginning of summer school. The planning of a strong core of teachers and support personnel was important to the changes that took place on the first day of student attendance. Adjustments were made to class lists and another teacher was added to assist with unexpected student enrollment.
